SECRETLY MARRIED.

Mr. Chas. Barnett and Mrs. Carrie Haley Married in Nicholasville Two Weeks Ago.

Rumors rife on the streets of Paris last night to the effect that Mr. Chas. Barnett, Chief of the Fire Department, and Mrs. Carrie Haley, of Paris, had been married two weeks ago, were verified last night when Mr. Barnett, upon being questioned on the subject, admitted that such was the case.

The story, as confirmed by long distance communication with Lexington, where the bride has been visiting, was to the effect that Mr. Barnett and Mrs. Haley, accompanied by Miss Lillian Ballenger, daughter of "Sweetheart" Ballenger, ex-Jailer of Fayette county, where Mrs. Haley had been visiting, went to Nicholasville about two weeks ago, where they were married. They secured license in Lexington.

Mr. Ballenger was called up over long distance phone, and confirmed the report, saying his daughter, Miss Lillian, accompanied Mr. Barnett and Mrs. Haley, and was a witness to the ceremony. Later Mrs. Barnett was called over the phone, at the residence of Mr. Ballenger, and verified the story.

This is the second matrimonial venture for the groom, who was recently granted a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Nellie Redmon Barnett. The bride is a daughter of the late Mr. Geo. G. White, and this makes her third entry into the matrimonial state.

Mrs. Barnett is at present the guest of the Ballenger family in Lexington where she has been visiting since the marriage.

PARIS MAN BUYS WELL-KNOWN LEXINGTON CAFE.

Mr. Wyatt A. Thompson, of Paris, yesterday purchased the Mecca Cafe, on North Broadway, in Lexington, at public auction, for $3,500.

It is reported that Mr. Thompson was acting as agent for Mr. Ed Slattery, of Paris, who conducts the well-known Slattery Cafe, in this city. Mr. Thompson took charge of the Mecca shortly after the sale, but declined to state whether he would conduct it himself or was acting as agent for another person.

NEGRO SUSPECTED OF MURDER HELD TO GRAND JURY.

From the testimony adduced at the examining trial, Tuesday of Dave Hunter, colored, arrested on suspicion of having murdered his wife, Lillie Hunter, in Clayville, Monday, County Judge C. A. McMillan held the suspected man to the grand jury at the next term of the Bourbon Circuit Court on a charge of murder in the first degree.

Hunter denied shooting his wife, and claimed that she had suicided. A search of the room where the body of the woman was found revealed evidences of a struggle. A bloody rag was found concealed in the stove and a ten dollar bill partly soaked in blood, was found on Hunter's person when he was searched.

The trend of the testimony was to the effect that Hunter and his wife had a quarrel over the possession of a ten dollar bill, and that upon the woman refusing to surrender the money at Hunter's demands, the latter shot the woman through the breast just above the heart.

It afterward became known that two colored men, Homer Young and Geo. Phillips, were in the house and witnessed the shooting, and it was through their testimony that the crime was finally fastened upon Hunter, in spite of his denials.

BANKRUPTCY REFEREE BEGINS HEARING OF HUTCHCRAFT CASE

The hearing of the matter of the Security Trust Co., the Second National Bank and Mrs. Belle Wiel, of Lexington, against Mr. R. B. Hutchcraft, of Paris, in which they file petitions seeking to throw him into involuntary bankruptcy, was begun before Judge A. M. Cox, of Cynthiana, Referee in Bankruptcy for the Eastern District of Kentucky, in this city, Monday.

The purpose of the hearing is to determine whether at the time of the commission of the acts in bankruptcy complained of, Mr. Hutchcraft was engaged chiefly in the occupation of a farmer. The law holds that a person who is engaged chiefly in farming cannot be thrown into bankruptcy, and this hearing is for the purpose of deciding whether he is engaged chiefly in farming.

The Trust Company and the Second National Bank each hold Mr. Hutchcraft's notes for $10,000 and Mrs. Wiel has a note for $4,000. Cashier George S. Weeks, of the Second National Bank; H. O. James, Jr., Louisville & Nashville agent at Muir; G. R. Burberry, agent at Centerville; E. L. Ralls, of Shawhan, and W. H. Harris, Louisville & Nashville agent at Paris, were called as witnesses, the purpose being to show the amount and character of the shipments made by Mr. Hutchcraft. The referee, after some discussion by attorneys, decided that they could go back for five years to show their shipments, as this proof would tend to establish the character of Mr. Hutchcraft's business at the time of the bankruptcy acts complained of.

Mr. W. H. Harris, L. & N. agent at Paris, was examined at great length, and went through the books from January 1 to June 1.

About forty witnesses will be examined by Judge Harmon Stitt and Mr. Reuben Hutchcraft, of Paris, attorneys for Mr. Hutchcraft, in addition to those summoned by the other side.

The Security Trust Company is represented by Mr. George Hunt, of Lexington; the Second National Bank, by Judge D. Gray Falconer, of Lexington; Mr. George S. Shanklin, for Mrs. Wiel, while Mr. Hutchcraft is being represented by his son, Mr. Reuben Hutchcraft, and Judge Harmon Stitt, of Paris.

The examination of Mr. Harris was finished at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon and at the conclusion of his testimony the attorneys called Mr. Maurice Weil, of Lexington, who was questioned at length in regard to transactions in live stock he and Mr. Hutchcraft had had in the past five years. The most recent transaction, said Mr. Weil, was in June, when Mr. Hutchcraft sold him fat cattle which brought $7,624.67. Other stock deals had involved amounts ranging from $5,000 to $9,000.

After being on the witness stand for three days, Mr. W. H. Harris gave way to Mr. Ollie Hedges, who is connected with Mr. Hutchcraft's commission and seed house in Paris. Mr. Hedges was kept on the stand the whole of yesterday.

BOURBON COUNTY GROWERS HAVE BANNER TOBACCO CROP.

It has fallen to the lot of John Woodford and Wm. Honaker, of Bourbon county, to have the banner tobacco crop of the season sold at the Lexington Tobacco Warehouse in a recent sale. Their offering was the biggest single crop lot put on the Lexington market this year, and the best to show quality, color and texture. It was in nice dry order, well-handled, and practically free from houseburn.

There were forty-seven baskets in the offering, which aggregated 15,655 pounds. The range of prices was from $9.00 for the lowest to $17.75 for the highest, or an average of $12.47.

Mr. Woodford stated that the crop was the second grown on a field of virgin soil. It was set out early, cultivated persistently during the dry weather, and was in the barn before the heavy August rains came, and the crop was practically cured before the wet weather of October, which greatly damaged late cut tobacco and caused it to house burn.

The Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse Company sold yesterday 110,525 pounds of tobacco at prices ranging from $2 to $17. This was decidedly the best market of the season, all grades showing advances. Rejections were few.

The record price for a Bourbon crop was established yesterday when a crop lot of Thomas Helm Clay and Fitzpatrick sold for an average of $14.75, every basket being bought by a factory.

When flyings from this crop was selling for $15.50 and trash at $17.00 the market had more of the ring of last year than anything yet heard, and is proof conclusive that color to tobacco in good order will still bring good prices. As a whole the offerings continue very poor in quality.

Some crop averages follow: J. Helm Clay and Fitzpatrick, $14.75; R. R. Crouch, $14.47; Connell Bros. & Small, $11.09; R. F. Collier, $9.42; Baldwin & Thomas, $9.62; G. K. Jones, $9.56; Burke, Brent & Frazier, $9.18.

The last sale for the season of 1914 will be held on next Tuesday, December 22. The market will then close until December 29th.

BOXING BOUT AT THE PARIS GRAND ON DEC. 28.

Several promoters in Paris athletic circles are arranging to put on a big boxing match at the Paris Grand Opera House on Monday night, December 28, at popular prices, which will be announced later.

The preliminaries will embrace limited round bouts between Albert Finney, of the Stout Cafe, and John Fitzgerald, of Paris, both aspirants for fistie honors, being eager for the "mill." A battle royal will be staged between two colored light weights, who are both good in their class.

The main bout, and one which promises to be a good one in every respect will be between "Bud" White, a well-known Cincinnati boxer, and Chester Myers, a New York man, who has made a good record in the ring. Those two boxers, it is said, are very evenly matched, and it is confidently predicted by the promoters that the audience at the Grand on Monday night will see a real lively set-to between scientific boxers. The "go" will be for ten rounds.

Home Affairs Play Prominent Part In Life of Beckham

Graceful Wife and Two Bright Children Adorn Hearth

SENATOR ELECT J. C. W. BECKHAM of Frankfort, the first senator to be elected by the people for a regular term from Kentucky, needs no introduction to the people of this state. He has been in public life for years, yet is Kentucky's youngest statesman of prominence. Throughout the state he is known as a statesman, but in the capital he is known as a splendid citizen and good neighbor. His modest, but attractive, residence is in South Frankfort. His family consists of his wife, who was Miss Jean Fuqua of Owensboro, a daughter, Miss Eleanor, aged thirteen, and a son, Creppa, Jr., aged nine. The entire family are social favorites. The youngsters are popular, and the lawn at the Beckham home is the playground for the children in the neighborhood. They attend the public schools. Mrs. Beckham is a young woman of splendid domestic attainments. She is an ideal wife, whose thoughts and energies are devoted to her home, children, husband, family, neighbors and the needy. She is a hard worker in the King's Daughters' circle, which conducts the hospital in Frankfort, and in other charitable and religious causes.

Those who know Governor Beckham best are well aware that his chief interest and greatest pleasure lie in his home. There he spends practically all his leisure hours. He is not a familiar figure at the local club, in the lobby of the hotels or, indeed, any other place where men are accustomed to congregate in the evenings. He makes it an almost unbroken habit to spend his evenings at home. The well-lighted study of the Beckham residence is on the first floor. There the passer-by may see Governor Beckham early or late on almost any evening at his desk or in his reading chair. Books and writing enter very largely into the life of the senator elect. But the study scene is not always a solitary one. Two children more than ordinary attractiveness and promise bless this home. They may be seen from time to time in the study, and the attitude of parent and children suggests that lessons are being heard or that the story hour is at hand. Governor Beckham, although a young man, is an old-fashioned father. He counts it his privilege and duty to personally supervise those things that make for the Christian character and physical well-being of his children.

Mrs. Beckham possesses to a high degree all those gifts and graces which one instinctively associates with successful homemaking. This fact is not to be forgotten when one asks why the senator seldom leaves home after the evening meal.

A normal, wholesome, Christian home, blessed by health, hope and happiness, not untouched by sorrow, unspoiled by wealth and dominated by the highest ideals—such is the home of the junior senator.

No new member of the next senate will take his seat better informed or better equipped for the work ahead of the Democratic administration than this Kentuckian, who is first a student, with a wide knowledge of public affairs and closely in sympathy and in touch with the president and his secretary of state. For a man of his years Senator Elect Beckham is a young man and has had a rather remarkable career in the public life of his state. Born Aug. 5, 1893, son of William N. and Julia Wickliffe Beckham, he comes of a family that has been prominent in affairs of the south. His mother was the youngest daughter of Governor Charles A. Wickliffe, who also held the portfolio of postmaster general in the cabinet of President Tyler. Her brother, Robert Wickliffe, was a governor of the state of Louisiana. She was, therefore, the daughter, the sister and the mother of men who held the first office within the gift of the people of their states. His father, a lawyer and farmer, died when the subject of this sketch was but a mere boy. Owing to this he got no further than his sophomore year at old Central university when called home to manage the farm. He continued his studies, however, with the result that at nineteen he was made principal of the high school of his home town, which place he occupied for the succeeding three years. During this time he studied law, political economy and political history. He was admitted to the bar of Kentucky in 1913, and on his birthday that year, his twenty-fourth, being just eligible, he was nominated by the Democrats of his county for a seat in the lower house of the general assembly. He was the youngest member of that body. During this service his health became impaired, and it looked as if his political career would be cut short. He went to New Mexico for the climate, and within a year was so nearly restored to health that he returned to Kentucky. On the advice of his physician he declined re-election to the legislature, but was destined to continue as a member of that body. Isaac Wilson, who had been given the seat he had refused, died shortly after taking the oath of office. His death took one vote from the Democrats of the assembly at a most critical time, when the body was deadlocked in the selection of a senator, the candidates being Joe Blackburn and W. Godfrey Hunter, the Republican candidate. The death of Wilson broke the tie, but the old state senator, who was something of an independent, though elected as a Republican, declared that the Republican nominee should not be sent to Washington across the grave of a Kentucky legislator and announced that he would wait a limited time for the Democrats to fill the vacancy. Without Beckham announcing for the place, his home people quickly reached the conclusion that he was the man to fill Wilson's seat. A special election was hurriedly held, he defeated his Republican opponent by nearly 1,000, and he started out to get to the state capital the hour fixed by the Republican senators for the Democratic side to have its vacant seat filled.

A railroad wreck occurred, and it looked as if the Democrats would fail. In the most inclement weather of a hard winter Beckham set out in a carriage from Backstreet, for Frankfort, a distance of sixty-five miles. Teams were changed three times, and he reached the capital at 3 o'clock in the morning of the day the balloting in the senatorial race was to be resumed. The senatorial deadlock remained unbroken for all of that session, resulting in an extra session in 1917 and the election of William O. Bradley, then opposition of William O. Bradley, then governor of the state, to Hunter, the Republican nominee.

The Nelson county man was returned to the lower house in 1918, and had attained such prominence in the assembly that he was made speaker. At that time he was but twenty-eight years of age, the youngest man ever given this office in Kentucky. As presiding officer he attracted much attention, and in the Democratic state convention of the following year he was chosen for the office of lieutenant governor, as the running mate of the late William Goebel. Then followed the most exciting period in Kentucky since the civil war. The state contest was carried before the general assembly, Goebel was declared to have been elected governor and was shot down by an assassin almost at the entrance of the state capitol. W. L. Taylor, the Republican candidate for the governorship, established himself in the capitol, surrounded by a regiment of the Kentucky state guard, and the Democratic claimants, with Beckham at their head, opened up offices at the Capital hotel for the transaction of the business of the commonwealth, where they were surrounded by a portion of the state guard loyal to their side of the controversy. The Democratic majority of the general assembly was prevented by Taylor from meeting at the capitol, and, driven through the streets by his guardsmen to prevent their meeting elsewhere, the reluctant general even threatened to invade the roof of the dying Goebel should a meeting be attempted therein. Enough of the majority was kept intact by the young governor to keep the record straight and clear. The full record of the settlement of the gubernatorial contest was preserved. Through it all he held his side in perfect obedience to the laws and set an example to his followers that did much to bring order out of chaos. When he could do so he reassembled the legislature at the seat of government and proceeded intelligently with the business of the state. So well did he handle the reins of government during these stormy times that the Democrats of the state made him their nominee to fill out the unexpired term of Goebel in the executive chair. The Republicans put forth a most formidable candidate in the person of John W. Yerkes, a man of national reputation, who had held himself aloof from the recent political trouble. It was a national year, Bryan and McKinley being the candidates, and the race was one of the most hotly contested held in the state in years. Beckham won by 3,700 majority.

Two weeks after the election, at the age of thirty-one years, the young governor was united in marriage to Miss Jean Fuqua of Owensboro. They occupied the state executive mansion for the seven years following, he being re-elected in 1926 for a full term of four years. As governor he did much to lay foundations which had been stirred up during the 1900 political troubles, winning the strong friendship of Republicans who had bitterly opposed him. He was governor of the whole people, and no trace of political feeling ever was displayed in the governor's office during the years he followed the political strife. During his incumbency he cleared the state of debts totaling nearly $2,000,000 without increasing the tax rate, and passed the office to his successor with a million in the public treasury. He collected for the state from the national government over $1,300,000 in debt. The new capitol was begun and practically completed under his direction, and a home was established in the state for Confederate soldiers.

One of the most notable features of the Beckham administration of affairs in Kentucky was the enforcement of the Sunday laws, the promotion of temperance and regulation of the liquor traffic. Until he had an opportunity to appoint a mayor of Louisville, in 1907, saloons ran wide open on the Sabbath. With the appointment of Robert Worth Bingham as mayor they closed and have so continued ever since. Through further extensions of the county unit local option laws he incurred the enmity of the liquor people and through taxation laws the ill will of the whisky rectifiers. Before his term as governor had closed he was nominated by the Democrats of the state in a primary election for the office of United States senator, defeating James E. McCreary for that honor. In those days the state legislature had the final say, and, although there was a clear Democratic majority in that body, he was defeated through the machinations of the whisky and brewery interests, who drew away from him four men who had been elected as Democrats and pledged to his support as the party nominee.

Senator Elect Beckham is not unknown in the national councils of the Democratic party. In the national conventions of 1904, 1908 and 1912 he was a delegate at large from the state of Kentucky, and in each convention represented his state on the committee on resolutions of the convention, helping to draft the national platform of the party. He has thus been closely associated with Mr. Bryan, with whom he has stumped Kentucky in all of the campaigns since 1898. He was a Wilson adherent when it was unpopular to be on that side in Kentucky, owing to the candidacy of a former Kentuckian, Champ Clark, and rendered valuable service to the New Jersey man at the Baltimore convention. At Washington he will not be found in the scramble for political jobs, but in the committee rooms and conferences where affairs of big importance are being discussed.

DO YOUR SHOPPING EARLY.

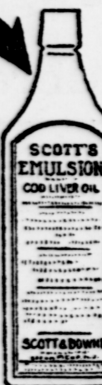

While the present "tightness" of money is likely to cut some figure in the customary Christmas buying, yet hundreds of presents are to be purchased, and the News advises that you heed the stereotyped admonition, "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early" and thus avoid the usual rush later on.

Were you aware of the fact that it is less than two weeks until Christmas? That's correct, and the Paris stores are loaded with gifts of all kinds, from the cheapest to the most elaborate. The usual extra clerks are on hand, so if you visit the stores now you will find the assortment complete, and have plenty of time to do your buying. Attend to this right now. Consult the advertisements in The News and find where to go.

Have you Catarrh?

Is nasal breathing impaired? Does your throat get husky or clogged?

Modern science proves that these symptoms result from run-down health. Snuffs and vapors are irritating and useless. The oil-food in Scott's Emulsion will enrich and enliven the blood, aid nutrition and assist nature to check the inflammation and heal the sensitive membranes. Shun Alcoholic mixtures and insist upon SCOTT'S.

RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Are Appreciated by Paris People.

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one kidney medicine that has earned a reputation for lasting results and there is plenty of proof of its merit right here in Paris.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now makes her testimony stronger.

Mrs. J. T. Martin, Pleasant and Eleventh streets, Paris, Ky., says: "I suffered quite severely from pains across my back and in my kidneys. The trouble alarmed me and I tried many medicines. I did not get relief however, until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. They improved my condition in every way. All I have ever said praising Doan's Kidney Pills was entirely correct and I confirm my former endorsement of this remedy. They permanently cured me of kidney trouble."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Martin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

LAWMAKERS SWAMPED.

Protests against the transmission of certain anti-Catholic publications through the mails are coming in a deluge to Senators and Representatives from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and other Middle Western States, in Washington.

The solons are so badly swamped in their efforts to acknowledge the communications that some are thinking of resorting to the plan of having a form letter printed to send to all correspondents on the subject.

Senator Kern, of Indiana, one day received more than 1,000 letters on the subject.

WAR SITUATION IN MEXICO.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—A statement before the House Committee on Naval Affairs Monday by Representative Hobson, of Alabama, that the United States got itself in readiness for war in the Pacific in May, 1913, was permitted to go unchallenged by Josephus the Far East a year ago, and made preparations for war in that quarter, was dramatic in the extreme. Mr. Hobson was impelled to make this declaration, Secretary of the Navy, although Mr. Hobson called upon Mr. Daniels to deny the truth of his assertion. Mr. Hobson's challenge to the Secretary of the Navy to deny that the Government was fearful of trouble in the Pacific by the testimony of Capt. A. G. Winterhalter, a member of the Navy General Board, who intimated that Mr. Hobson and many other persons in the United States are constantly seeing visions of war.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Although Provisional President Gutierrez and Gen. Carranza assured the American Government that their forces have been instructed to confine their fire to Mexican territory, Washington had received no official assurance of the receipt of such instructions by the respective commanders.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 15.—Col. Goethal's reiterated request for destroyers for use in the Canal Zone was the subject of conferences among War, Navy and State Department officials, but no definite decision was reached.

The American merchant marine has been increased by 101 vessels since September 3, according to an announcement by the Department of Commerce.

"THE WHITE CHRISTMAS."

Rehearsals for younger children who will take part in the "White Christmas" which is to be held in the Grand Opera House, on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, will be held on Saturday afternoon at the Opera House.

The children of the various Sunday schools are taking an active interest in the work, and through their enthusiasm the older people are beginning to warm up to the necessity of providing a Christmas for the young folks who would not otherwise be enabled to partake of the Christmas cheer.

The list of children who will be made recipients of a glad Christmas embraces about two hundred names and toys and other things that delight the hearts of children are needed to fill the empty stockings. Appeals made to the merchants of Paris for these supplies are being generously answered. There is lots of room for more, and those desiring to contribute are asked to send toys, old or new, to the office of Mr. Earl Mast, Secretary of the Paris Y. M. C. A., in the Harris & Speakes real estate office, corner of Fifth and Main streets, before next Monday evening.

Great interest is being manifested in the "Community Christmas Tree," which will be erected on the Court House square, decorated and lighted with hundreds of colored incandescent electric light globes. The Christmas carols to be sung by the best picked voices of the different churches of the city, augmented by other singers, all under the direction of Dr. Frank Fithian, promises to be one of the most enjoyable features of the Christmas celebration.

Among so many popular customs at Christmas, full of so much sweet and simple poetry, there is, perhaps, none more charming than that of the Christmas carols, which celebrate in joyous, yet devout strains, the nativity of the Saviour.

Christmas, the "Mass of Christ," or the festival of His Nativity, was the time in early days, when the people who lived simple lives, found expression for their devotion and their delight in their songs.

The "ballads" or "carols," in England, was a term applied to a tale told in simple verse, and what could be more appropriate during Christmas time than the singing of carols, whose beauty and freshness and directness have made them the most loved songs?

The carols of Greece, of Provence, Denmark, Brittany, England, Iceland and Lapland have something of a sameness about them. There were first no written tunes, the music being handed, orally, from one generation to another, and carried from country to country. The only difference found was the local characteristics and interest brought out in the words—for instance, the Laplanders introducing into his song his reindeer. While these earlier warblers were ferocious in battle, they were very tender in the words in their songs.

In England, still, the children go from home to home on Christmas morning, and each year, about the open doors, these carols are listened to with reverence, for the songs mean to announce, anew, as exultantly as possible the birth of the Savior of the world.

COLDEST WEATHER OF THE WINTER.

Bitter cold weather, the very coldest of the winter, swooped down upon this section Monday, following a heavy fall of snow on Sunday, and by ten o'clock Monday night the mercury in the thermometers had dropped to six below zero, and on Tuesday morning it was reported from various sources that from twelve to fourteen below had been recorded. These records, however, are thought to be rather unreliable.

In numerous instances the sudden snap worked a real hardship in Paris homes, the water pipes being frozen up, and in other homes where they had no such luxuries it did other things that would make the plumber's bill look like a patent of nobility.

From the extreme North almost to the southern limits of Florida the cold snap brought zero weather and snow varying in depth from 1 to 6 inches, with the exception of the southernmost portions of Florida.

Farmers were compelled to feed all kinds of live stock, and the animals that were not protected by adequate shelter suffered considerably.

The loose leaf tobacco markets have been considerably benefited by the cold snap in that the tobacco has less moisture and the clear skies have made the light in the warehouses better. receipts of tobacco at the Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse Co.'s plant were rather light, and what was brought in had to be pulled by double teams because of the heavy snow.

Farmers who had not killed hogs for fear of a continuance of the warm weather that prevailed for two weeks have renewed the slaughter, and as there is every prospect of a continuance of the cold weather for several days there will be a large crop of ice gathered from the ponds and creeks.

A WISE PRECAUTION.

The city authorities of Charleston, West Virginia, have recently passed an ordinance prohibiting motion picture houses from blocking the entrances to the theatres will bill boards or other devices that would interfere with the escape of the patrons of the houses in case of a serious fire. The same rule prevails in all the large cities, and, also, in many small towns. Wherever crowds gather as they do at the modern moving picture shows it would be well to keep every avenue clear for the escape of the audience in case of fire. The danger of fire is always imminent and every possible avenue of escape should be kept open and should be provided for by the proprietors of the theatres.

Hon. E. M. Dickson, of Paris Lodge of Elks, delivered the memorial address at the "Lodge of Sorrow" held by the Cynthiana Elks in Cynthiana, Sunday afternoon. The Cynthiana Democrat pays the following deserved tribute to the speaker of the evening: "The annual memorial services of Cynthiana Lodge No. 438, B. P. O. E., were held at the Christian church, Sunday afternoon. A large number of Elks were in attendance, and quite a number of friends. The address was delivered by Hon. E. M. Dickson, of Paris, and was one of the most eloquent that has ever been heard here on a similar occasion. Mr. Dickson dwelt at some length on the cardinal principles of the order—Charity, Justice, Fidelity and Brotherly Love, and drew a beautiful word picture of the aims, aspirations and achievements of the Elks. He paid a touching tribute to brothers who had gone before."

COLD WEATHER WILL CHECK FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE.

According to a statement recently given out by Dr. Jos. Kastle, head of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, at Lexington, the cold snap we are now experiencing will be an invaluable aid in checking the ravages or further spread of the foot and mouth disease which is now or has been epidemic among the cattle herds of Central Kentucky. The spread of the disease will be checked, he said, because the snow-covered fields will prevent the infected cattle from grazing and leaving germs of the disease on the grass to be gathered later by other animals. While the germ of the disease has not yet been isolated, cold weather alone is generally supposed to be favorable in the fight against the malady, consequently the snow and the attendant cold weather was welcomed by the farmers and stockmen.

LUKE McLUKE SAYS.
(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

It is hard for a man to mend his ways so the patches won't show. The world is growing better. But it would help some if man could be arrested on a charge of Frugality.

After a woman has been married for ten years she is willing to bet that the Devil is a married man.

There are only a few Sure Things left. One of them is that the girls will never get their skirts so tight that they can't catch a man.

After sizing up some of the wired-looking couples riding around in hacks with old shoes and white ribbons tied to the rear of the vehicles, a man gets the idea that we do not need a Fool Killer.

Education may be good stuff. But any girl would rather have naturally curly hair than a degree from Vassar.

As far as popularity is concerned, the fellow who can't tell you anything without sticking his mouth in your face and sprinkling you, runs a close race with Old Man Smallpox and Old Man Castor Oil.

When Duty calls, most of us roll over in the hay and pound the other ear.

A man will do a whole lot of things for his wife. But he seldom gets the idea into his head that he should teach her how to shoot a revolver.

The only time a woman is ever speechless with astonishment is when a man in a crowded car gets up and offers her his seat.

A doctor doesn't have to wait four years like other people. He attends inaugural bawls two or three times a week.

After watching some of the new society dances a man wonders why there isn't sawdust on the floor and he looks around for a keg of beer at the end of the hall.

Somewhat or other the fellow who regards your friendship as a Shake Well After Using proposition seems to get along as well as the rest of us.

When a man gets home and takes off a tight shoe and caresses a burning corn he gets some idea of how good it makes a fat woman feel to get a straight front off and rub the welts.

Some of the wealthy society women who are arguing that a girl can live on $6 per week and be good, couldn't be good if they had to live on $60 per week.

More Economical Both in Use and Cost CALUMET BAKING POWDER

—And it does better work. Simply follow your customary method of preparation—add a little less of Calumet than when using ordinary baking powder. Then watch the result. Light, fluffy, and evenly raised—the baking comes from the oven more tempting, tastier, more wholesome.

Calumet insures the baking of an expert. Ask your grocer today.

You don't want money when you buy cheap or cheap when you buy money. Buy Calumet. It's the only baking powder that's worth the money. Calumet is far superior to any other baking powder.

THE HEARTLESS BYSTANDER.

The scene was on a boulevard, a girl was standing there. Her face was flushed with anger as she saw some rude men stare; The girl was losing something, and she was in deep distress. And, while the cruel world passed by, the girl clutched at her dress. At last she spoke unto a man—"Oh, sir," she said, "will you be kind enough to lend a working girl a pin or two?" The heartless wretch turned with a sneer, and said to her, "Nay, nay!" And as he started for to go, these words he heard her say:

Chorus:

"Some day you, too, will know distress, and trouble you will meet, Some day you'll have to stand and ask assistance on the street; And other men will stare at you, and pass you with a grin The man who wouldn't lend an honest working girl a pin."

GIVE A HOOSIER CABINET For Christmas This Year

The Hoosier Saves Miles of Steps.

It will save steps in your home. It saves supplies; it saves waste; it saves time and energy.

Nothing you could put in your home will do so much for your wife or mother as this wonderful new Hoosier Cabinet.

40 Labor-Saving Features—17 Entirely New.

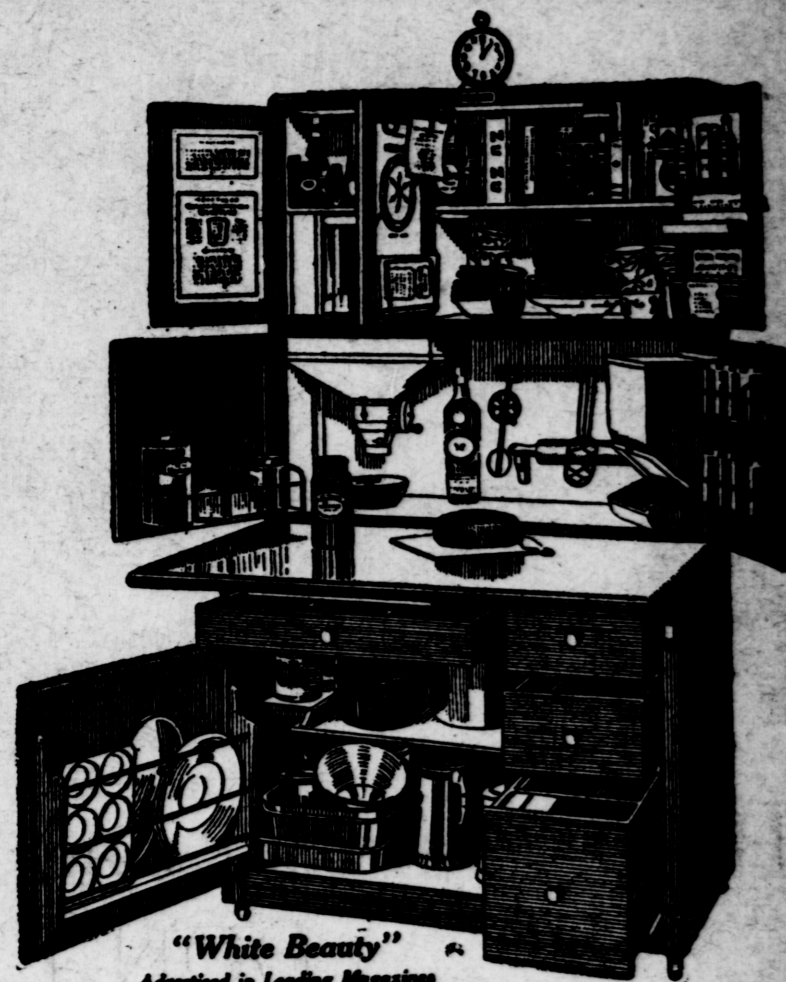

This Hoosier has all the practical conveniences that have been suggested by thousands of owners. Not a single practical suggestion for its improvement has been made since we have had it on the floor.

20,000 Hoosier Cabinets were given for Christmas last year. This year the demand will be greater, and our supply will undoubtedly be exhausted. Come early. Make your selection while our stock is complete. If your wife isn't delighted with your choice, we will refund your money.

PAY ONLY $1.00

Then, after that, a dollar a week until you have completed the small cash price fixed by the Hoosier Company. No extra fees, no interest.

Until you have examined the Hoosier Cabinet, you can't appreciate its beautiful finish, its rigid construction, and its wonderful convenience. But the mere fact that 700,000 people already have bought Hoosiers, and are delighted with them, is your safeguard. Any one of them had the privilege of receiving their money back if they were not pleased. Not one Hoosier owner has asked for her money.

Come in tomorrow and let us show you what the Hoosier will mean in your home before it is too late to get it for Christmas.

DO YOUR BUYING EARLY AND AVOID BIG CROWDS.

Remember the crowds that thronged the stores last Christmas when you were buying your presents. Avoid these crowds now by doing your shopping early.

You might imagine that a homely girl would be grateful to a man for marrying her. But after she gets you she will roast you just as much as if she was the prettiest thing in town when you snared her.

Severe Head Pains Caused By Catarrh Cured By Peruna

Mr. W. H. Chaney, R. F. D. 2, Sutherland, Pittsylvania Co., Va., writes: "For the past twelve months I have been a sufferer from catarrh of the head. Since taking four bottles of your Peruna I feel like a different person altogether. The severe pains in my head have disappeared, and my entire system has been greatly strengthened. "This is my first testimonial to the curative qualities of any patent medicine. I feel it a duty to mankind to let them know of Peruna. In my estimation it is the greatest medicine on earth for catarrh." We have thousands of testimonials like Mr. Chaney's. Some of them were cured after years of suffering and disappointment in finding a remedy. Send for free copy of "Tills of Life." The Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio. REFLECTIONS OF THE WAR SEEN IN CLOTHES

Braiding and Buttons on Frocks of Khaki-Colored Cloth a New Note in Smart Fashions

TOQUES AND SAILORS OF 1830

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 17. With the fear of a siege fading farther and farther into the background, Paris, with a characteristic rebound, has turned from the contemplation of business inactivity and darkened streets to the theatre, the cafe and renewed commerce.

The large dressmaking establishments which are run by women have not closed. They have kept open in the face of all the hard times. When there were no gowns to make, the employees were set to work upon the making of bandages and hospital garments, knitting mufflers and socks for the soldiers. In fact, the knitting of the shoulders rather plainly, as do the skirts at the hips, although they may flare out at the ankles to four or eight yards.

The tight long sleeves is established and the short kimono sleeve has had its day, although the long sleeve has made in this manner is still correct if it fits the lower arm closely. The raglan-cut sleeve is no longer startling, but it is an accepted style which may be bought with impunity, if liked. The principal thing is to know whether it is becoming or not.

The Roman striped silks, so popular a short time ago, must be viewed with suspicion, for they are being worn very little even as belts. Instead the girdles of wonderful Chinese and Japanese embroidery are correct and the waistcoats of stripes have given place to those of fur and fur-cloth.

Most of the suits are trimmed with fur, perhaps just a band around the neck and sleeves; possibly narrow bands of it are used around the bottoms of tunics, collars and sashes. One stunning frock had the lower skirt section of a fawn colored broadcloth dress of beaver fur. Another suit had a waist coat of Persian lamb and Russian kolinsky was used for trimming bands.

Net and satin are combined into many charming evening frocks, and one developed in this way I have used for an illustration. Cream-colored net is used for the bodice and the pointed tunic. The girdle which goes up in a point in the front, meeting the point something has become such a fad that fashionable women everywhere are knitting.

But as the Germans were driven back from Paris the call for gowns from the designers begin to fulfil the demand.

Quite military are some of these new frocks. One frock seen recently was made of a new fabric on the broadcloth order, with the same high sheen, but a twilled weave in khaki color. The waist was made very simply, and with body and sleeves in one full length, fitting very closely below the elbow. There was a seam in the back of the waist, and the front was cut in a U shape, which was slit from the under part of the U to the waistline. On either side of this opening, which was filled in with a guimpe of heavy lace; the edges were bound with black braid and large loops of braid and buttons placed about an inch and a half apart to the waistline. A high military collar finished the back of the neck. The sleeves were trimmed on the under side with smaller loops and buttons from wrist to elbow. The skirt was made with a full long tunic with a very wide band of self-colored velvet around the bottom of it. About six inches of the narrower underskirt showed beneath. The center of the skirt was slit down about twelve inches, the edges bound with the braid and the loops and buttons of braid on either side, corresponding to the placing of loops on the waist. The whole effect showed the influence which the uniforms of the combatants are having upon the fashions.

Another frock noticeable for its military effect was made of blue cloth and an abundance of gold braid.

The present time of year is an excellent one to buy clothes. The freak styles of the early part of the season which looked as though they might really be worthy of attention have been sifted out, and there is not the danger of buying something which will soon be out. Now the stores are beginning to clear out their stock and usually everything is reduced to fraction of what they were at the beginning of the season.

Bear in mind when buying the new clothes that the various loops and tucks which draped our coats last year are no more—now the straight lines prevail. Bodices and coats fit of the V-shaped neck, is of coral satin. A wide band of this satin finishes the bottom of the tunic and makes the lower skirt. The simplicity of the materials and development make it especially becoming to the young woman.

The military effects has kept the capes strongly in evidence and the cape used for evening wear in the illustration is one made of Petrograd blue broadcloth and lined with a deep rich crimson. The fur collar is made of kolinsky, a Russian mink which closely resembles sable.

Another evening frock of white faille silk has a tulle tunic with a band around the bottom of white satin ribbon. This tunic is but a little shorter than the satin underskirt, which is edged with a fringe of glass beads two inches wide.

The sailor hat is ver smart, but it changing a little in shape. Now the right side is slightly narrower than the left and the crown is shallower. Some of the small hats look like the hats of an early Victorian period of seventy years ago. Small and perched on the top of a head whose coiffure is pulled away from the ears they are distinctly quaint. Even the streamers are reappearing in a modified way, and are to be seen on small sailors and toques alike.

SICK HEADACHE.

Sick headache is nearly always caused by disorders of the stomach. Correct them and the periodic attacks of sick headache will appear. Mrs. John Bishop of Roseville, O., writes: "About a year ago I was troubled with indigestion and had sick headache that lasted for two of three days at a time. I doctored and tried a number of remedies but nothing helped me until during one of those sick spells a friend advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. This medicine relieved me in a short time." Austria's Day of Defeat.

At the battle of Magenta in 1859 during the Italian war, the French and Sardinians defeated the Austrians at a loss to the latter of 10,000 in killed and 7,000 in prisoners, while the allies only lost 4,000. "BEST PEOPLE ON EARTH" HELP THE CHRISTMAS FUND

The fund for the furthering of the "White Christmas," which is to be observed in Paris this year for the first time in the history of the city, has been considerably augmented by the receipt of a check for a substantial sum from the Secretary of Paris Lodge No. 373, which was donated by a unanimous vote of the members at the regular meeting of the lodge on Tuesday night. The check was most gratefully received, and it is hoped that the action of this lodge will be an incentive to immediate action by the other fraternal orders of this city. The Elks have ever been generous and immediate in their response to calls for the relief of the suffering in this city, and while not claiming leadership in this kind of work, have known no class distinction in their charitable work.

WAR TAX DOES NOT AFFECT THE PARIS "JOHNNIES."

"I should worry about this war tax," said a well-known young Paris society man, as he strolled into a long distance booth at the Cumberland Telephone office, smoking a freshly-lighted cigarette and chewing his armchair. "Let the poor Belgians starve," he said. "No doubt a good many other poor people in this town will come just as near starving as the poor Belgians this winter. But the high cost of living is not worrying me one iota of an eyelash. And the European dum-dum bullets are not perforating any of my meat tickets," he added, as he proceeded to call up his best girl at Hutchison and make an engagement to take her to the Ben Ali, in Lexington, that night.

After the arrangements were completed with his feminine friend, our "Johnnie" wired to Manager Scott for the theatre tickets. A warm friend of his, who was selling insurance, bought him a drink, challenged him to a game of billiards, and while the conflict raged at his height, managed to get his signature to an application for an insurance policy. On the way to the interurban station he bought a tube of tooth paste at Varden's drug store.

"All this talk about the war having any effect on us is all wumgush," he mused, as he settled himself comfortably in one of the seats and tried to get up a flirtation with a demure school girl across the aisle.

But that young man was wrong. We are feeling the effects of the war, and that very self-same man is helping to bear the brunt of the war tax, though he can not possibly be made to believe it.

He first has to pay a war tax of one cent on his telephone message, and also on the telegram he sent over the local lines to the manager of the Ben Ali Theatre, ordering the theatre tickets. The war tax on the chewing gum he masticated so vigorously while the telephone operator was endeavoring to understand what number he wanted; the cigarette he smoked in the presence of the ladies in the office; the perfume he absorbed at the bar; the perfunctory he sprinkled on his coat lapel to deaden the fumes of the whiskey spilled there while taking his drink; the billiard games he played; the performance that he saw at the Ben Ali; and the insurance policy he bought—all this war tax must be paid indirectly by him. He must pay the war tax on a good many other things that entered into the night's enjoyment, though he, in his pig-headed simplicity, could not be made to believe that "the consumer always pays the freight." True, he doesn't have to worry about the war tax, and our young society friend is right when he said: "I should not worry about the high cost of living. I don't have to worry about this war tax."

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION.

Buy Grass and Clover Seed Early.

A great deal of a farmer's prosperity depends upon his ability to get good stands of grass and clover free from noxious weeds. Not the least important factor in accomplishing this is good seed. Farmers have not attached enough importance to good seed in the past, with the result that they have lost many dollars and their farms have become infested with troublesome species of weeds.

It is entirely possible to get grass and clover seed free from weed seed. By the use of modern cleaning machinery nearly all such seeds can be removed. In addition to clean seed, we want seed that will grow, and seed dealers should be required to guarantee the germination of the seed they sell. Good seed is always the cheapest. Poor seed is expensive at any price, even as a gift.

Dealers have a good stock of seed now in most cases. They are just as cheap now, or probably cheaper, than they will be later. Why not buy early and get the first chance at the high grade seed. Buy by sample and test for germination and examine for purity, or, if you do not feel competent to do this, send the samples to the Experiment Station, where the work will be done free of cost. In case of blue grass and red top seed, this is always the best plan.

Do not wait until the last moment and take the poorest seed, that every one else has refused.

E. J. KINNEY, Asst. Agronomist, Kentucky Experiment Station, Lexington, Ky.
